I. Announcements

II. LAC Teaching Award

a. Establish selection committee

From LAC website

In consultation with the LAC Committee, the LAC Director will appoint the Award Committee. The Award Committee will consist of the following--three faculty members either from the LAC Committee, from faculty who teach in the LAC, or from previous award winners, and two student members selected by NISG.

Material the committee will consider include the following:

- A current vita and written statement of not more than 500 words describing the nominee's philosophy of teaching LAC courses.

- Three letters of recommendation indicating how the nominee's teaching in the LAC meets the criteria for consideration of the award to be sent to the LAC Director or be included in the information packet submitted by the nominee. Letters should come from individuals familiar with the nominee's LAC teaching and can include current and former students as well as colleagues and administrators.

- A maximum of three documents supportive of the award criteria

- Copies of student assessments from at least 2 recently taught LAC courses

b. Materials are due April 17th, so the committee will be expected to meet between April 20th-April 30th and then report back to the LACC at our May 1st meeting.
